KEYTESVILLE, MISSOURI, FRIDAY, NOV. 11 1892.

NUMBER 42.

A GRAND DEMOCRATIC RALLY! AND TORCHLIGHT PROCESSION!

KEYTESVILLE, MISSOURI, MONDAY EVENING, NOV. 14th, 1892.

THE COUNTRY IS SANED AND THE DEMOCRATS DID IT,

And we want to celebrate the glorious Democratic victory! COME AND HELP US! The following prominent speakers have been invited: Hon. W. J. Stone, Hon. W. H. Wallace, of Kansas City, Hon. U. S. Hall, Hon. E. M. Harber and others. We have a cannon and will load her to the muzzle, touch her off and make the Welkin Ring.

Keytesville's Broom Brigade of young ladies will be out in full force.

EVERYBODY ON EARTH INVITED!

Drowned.

Geo. Temple, a 17 or 18-year-old negro boy, who worked in B. F. Davis' livery stable, at Salisbury, was drowned about 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon in the Salisbury canning factory pond.

Temple had been sent to the pond to wash the mud off a horse's legs, and as he rode into the water the horse stumbled and fell and threw the negro off, and it is stated he fell in water but a little over waist deep.

He hollered to another negro boy, who had either gone with him or was on the bank of the pond, to go and tell Mr. Davis to come and get him out.

The boy obeyed and summoned Mr. Davis to the scene as quickly as possible, but when he reached the pond nothing could be seen of Temple, but his gloves were floating on top of the water.

Other assistance was soon at hand and a few minutes later the negro boy's body was located by a few bubbles in the water, and his lifeless remains, which had then been under the water some 20 or 30 minutes, were removed from the pond, and every means known to the parties present was resorted to bring Temple to life but without success.

It is supposed that the negro would not swim, and took the cramps while standing in the water which resulted in his drowning.

Temple was said to have been a faithful employe of Mr. Davis and one of the best hands who ever worked in his livery stable.

The remains were taken to Moberly for interment where Temple's people reside.

A SIX-LEGGED LAMB.

G. W. Bradley, an old confederate soldier, of near Forest Green, came to Keytesville Monday with a curiosity in the shape of a six-legged lamb which was dropped on the premises of Zack Moore, near Roanoke, about two weeks ago.

The two extra legs project from near where the two normal hind legs join and are about the same length.

The lamb uses all six of its legs in walking. Mr. Bradley pronounces the lamb "a great curiosity with six natural legs."

He had it on exhibition at Tetlow's livery stable on Tuesday, and charged 10 cents admission to see it, but his receipts were small, not exceeding enough, Mr. Bradley says, to more than pay expenses.

The people were more interested in looking after Republican goats that day than in seeing Col. Bradley's lamb "with six natural legs."

BORN: To Mrs. Bert Warshaw, Friday, October 4th, a daughter. Mother and babe are doing well while Bert, the proud papa, is a great big perambulating mile.

In the matter of the road appeal case of G. S. Buffington vs. Warner Ford, by agreement of parties it is ordered by the court that either party in this cause may use the record of the township board of Keytesville township, and it is further ordered that this cause be continued until Friday, Nov. 11th, at 1 o'clock, p. m.

The Carrollton rally on Thursday last week was one of the biggest and most enthusiastic Democratic political demonstrations held in Missouri this year. Everybody who attended from Keytesville was delighted with the affair, and say that Carroll county Democrats know how to conduct a big rally in every respect. The Keytesville girls who were there in the interest of Judge W. W. Rucker were unanimously voted the entire bakery.

WEDDING BELLS.

HAMMOND-HOUSTON:—Mr. C. C. Hammond, a prominent and popular young attorney of Salisbury, and Miss Kate Ward Houston, the accomplished and affable daughter of Dr. W. M. Houston, of Mexico, Mo., were united in marriage at the Christian church, in that city, Thursday, Nov. 10th, at 11:30 o'clock, a. m. The hymeneal vows were read by Rev. W. H. Marquess, of Fulton, assisted by the pastor of the Christian church, of Mexico.

There were no attendants except the ushers, Messrs. Geo. Hammond and J. W. Davis, of Brunswick, Alf Pannell, of Salisbury, and Chas. McCullough, of Estelle, Howard county.

After the marriage ceremony and the extension of congratulations, Mr. Hammond and his bride boarded the west-bound Wabash train for Brunswick, where, after spending a few days at the bridegroom's parents, they will take up their residence in Salisbury. Mr. Hammond having secured a suit of rooms at the Robinson house.

The COURIER desires to be remembered among their long list of sincere well wishers, and trusts that their wedded life may be as felicitous as their brightest fancies have portrayed or their fondest hopes pictured.

MILLER-KLOSTER:—Mr. Joseph Miller and Miss Annie Kloster were married at the Catholic church, at Wien, Thursday, Nov. 3rd, Rev. Father Guido Knepper tying the nuptial knot. The church was well filled with friends of the contracting couple to witness the marriage ceremony. A sumptuous wedding dinner and supper were served at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anton Kloster, the attendants making merry over the happy event until a late hour.

KENYAN-MORRIS:—Mr. Frank A. Kenyan, one of Sumner's leading merchants, and Mrs. Maggie Morris, also of Sumner, were joined in wedlock at the Methodist parsonage, in Brunswick, Sunday, Nov. 6th, Rev. J. R. A. Vaughan uniting their destinies.

GRACE-SIMPSON:—Mr. Geo. A. Grace and Miss Ida Simpson were united for better or worse at the residence of J. W. Simpson, near Brunswick, Sunday, Nov. 6th, Elder W. G. Barker pronouncing the marriage ceremony.
